

Please consider what every test to date, regardless of who conducted the test, shows and that is there will be unbelievable interference caused by BPL. How could you even consider such transmissions with the overwhelming evidence pointing to HF communications becoming almost impossible?